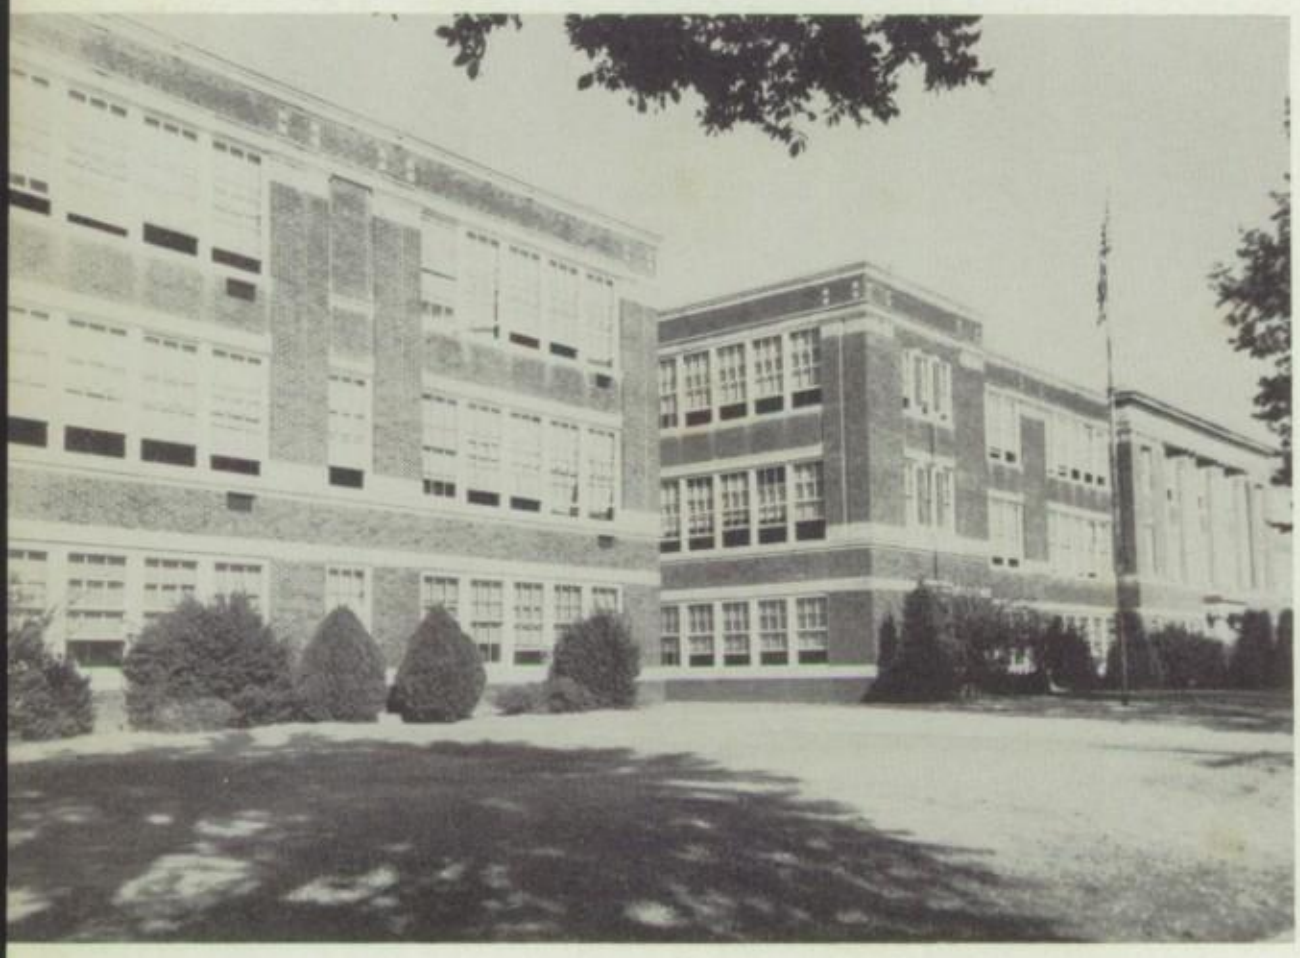
HOME OF THE COMET

Greetings!

I'm Herman Halley, the Classen Comet! I came to Classen High in 1926 and liked it so much I've been here ever since and I've never missed a day. I graduate each spring. I love to graduate. Each September I re-enroll. I'm a member of all three classes. Yes, and a member of the faculty, too.

They tell a story here at Classen about how they chose me That's all bunk. I chose them. A lot of the same persons who came here when I did are still here. However, I'll be here long after they are gone. I'll always be at Classen. In fact I am Classen.

From time to time someone comes along who thinks he's the head man. I let him take the glory. But I'm always around to see that he carries on in good traditional, Classen manner.



With the sincere hope that you will enjoy your 1954 Orbit as a memento of the happy years of study and play at dear old Classen, we, your staff greet you.

We have no specific theme. The intention is to give a complete and comprehensive review of this year's personalities and events.

To add to your pleasure we have invited Classen's immortal Comet, whom we call Herman Halley, to present to you our efforts.

I'll never forget the first time I saw Mr. Taylor on the stage at assembly. "Now, here's Mr. Estes with a few announcements," is a phrase I'll always remember.

It took me a long time to discover that teachers are human beings, but they are. However, there's nothing more tenacious than a bunch of teachers obsessed with the ambition of creating a senior, whether a guy is senior material or not.

They keep in trim by consoling themselves with, "Not at the top, but he's climbing." To them we are clay to be fashioned into the best possible design. Our "mud-in-your-eye" attitude rarely daunts them.

They crowd in an extra chair for the newcomer; push out the walls of the library when we gang-up on late book reports; swab our throats when maladies threaten, and do dozens of little kindnesses every day.

Living and moving and having your being among the clatter of chattering typewriters, acrid smells of chemistry experiments, hissing chlorine that irritates your eyes makes you realize you are in the process of getting educated.

Sometimes I feel sorry for the head man. But watching a cherished idea materialize has been some consolation this year, no doubt, when annoyances common to the Captain of any crew of 2,000 spontaneous, unpredictable teenagers arose.

Our new Classen at Twenty-third and May is the result of Mr. Taylor's ambition for Classen students. He's the drive behind the acquisition of this unique school plant. Upon completion it will represent the finest in the Southwest. But it's more than a building, it's one man's dream for and devotion to youth translated into substance—stone and marble, where many generations of Classenites will meet the patience that will steer their vagrancies into useful, successful lives.

To the Class of 1954:

You have contributed to Classen High School through your work and activities. After your graduation we will follow you with personal interest and prayers for your success.

Your school has tried to arrange the program to meet the extensive and varied talents of its students.

May this book represent culmination of a school career which we trust has prepared you to face tomorrow's problems. May you also know the dignity and joy that comes from serving others and have a sustained faith in the integrity of our way of life."

W. H. TAYLOR
Principal, Classen High School

We congratulate the Orbit Staff of 1953-1954 for a most excellent publication. It contains many happy memories for those who are graduating and will serve as a bond uniting and perpetuating a lasting friendship between those who have graduated from our school in the past and those who will carry on in future years.

The spirit and philosophy of Classen High School, so charmingly portrayed by word and pictured in these pages, stems straight from the courage, initiative, vision, loyalty, and unselfish service of the student body. This spirit has been developed through a succession of victories and defeats. Every failure, whether great or small, has been a challenge to our young men and young women who recognize defeat, but, who refuse to surrender to either failure or defeat.

Through the pages of the 1953-1954 Orbit we will be able to clasp hands with those who have gone before and to strive shoulder to shoulder with those who will come in the future, in order that the Comet, which symbolizes the spirit of Classen High School, may shine more brightly. May it be a constant reminder of Classen's ideals, traditions, loyalties, and devotions.

Board of Education

Keeping up with education needs in a city that persistently leaps countryward, is a full time job. It demands above all faith in America's future citizens, and unselfish devotion to the best welfare for all educatees, regardless of age, race, or location.

It's a job that requires tested and proved business procedures and a willingness to adhere to one's convictions.

Oklahoma City is fortunate to have men who take the job of school board membership seriously.

Seated: Mr. Otto Thompson, Mr. Jim Lookabaugh, President, Mrs. L. D. Melton, Vice-President. Standing: Mr. C. B. McCray, Mr. Jim Wright.

Schools are BIG business!

If there's any doubt, consider that one-fifth of the population of Oklahoma City is enrolled in the Public Schools.

There are more than 1,500 teachers not counting some eighty administrative positions.

In the eighty-seven operating units there are approximately 333 nurses, librarians, counselors, supply clerks and clerical assistants.

These figures do not include cafeteria employees or custodians.

Whew! Just being a loyal Comet at Classen keeps me snowed under.

Central Office Staff

Mr. Gilbert Robinson, Director of Personnel, Mr. Merle J. Burr, Ass't. Sup't. in Charge of Pupil Accounting and Research, Dr. N. L. George, Ass't. Sup't. in Charge of Administration and Buildings, Mrs. Gladys McDonald, Director of Elementary Education, Dr. Melvin W. Barnes, Ass't. Sup't. in charge of Instruction.

MR. LLOYD M. ESTES
Assistant Principal

"Conscientious is his decisions," is a fitting description of Classen's Mr. Estes.

Although untangling students problems is rightly in the counsellor's department, many students arrive in Mr. Estes office.

Known for his sense of humor and ability at understanding, mischievous ones get quick action when an issue needs clarification.

Mr. Estes sponsors Proctors and co-sponsors Hi-Y activities.

His work with YMCA brought him national recognition and he was awarded a 12 year service pin last fall.

Office Staff

Financial matters, attendance, registration, and secretarial details are just a few of the many responsibilities of members of the office staff. A cheery smile to all office callers is regulation uniform. Hours of work and untiring efforts on their part keep oil on the troubled waters of Classen.

Guidance and Testing

An average of twelve conferences a day with parents, students and instructors, brings much traffic to counselor Hulet's and Brucher's offices. Guidance is of major concern at Classen. Evidence of its worth are the many reports from universities and colleges praising accomplishments and recognition of Classen enrollees.

Dean of Boys

Retha Wave Hulet
Dean of Girls

Miss Owen and Mr. Weinert sponsor student activities that operate through the student council. An all-Classen talent show, with "MOODS" as its theme was a brand new endeavor for 53-54.

Activities Counselor
Student Council Sponsor

Kathleen Owen
Student Council Sponsor
and Girls' Sports Director

Eunice Cockrum
Librarian

Miss Cockrum directs library activities. Library aides assist with bookkeeping, repairs, distribution of over due notices, and in keeping displays attractive. Classen's library has some 8,000 volumes and makes available approximately 75 weekly and monthly magazines.

Inez Ellis
Testing
Visual Education

Much of one's future success comes as a consequence of knowing one's aptitudes. Miss Ellis directs the testing and measuring program. As an additional activity she channels all visual education films.

Parent-Teacher Association

Pictured at a PTA committee meeting are Mrs. F. R. Wallace, recreation, Mrs. Leslie Conner, hospitality, Mrs. John Roring, juvenile protection, Mrs. Hal Whitten, legislation, and Mrs. Stephen D. Holloway, hospitality.

"TOMORROW'S CITIZENS IN TODAY'S WORLD"—This theme of the PTA for 1953-54 inspired record attendance at meetings. Classen's PTA group is one of the largest in the state. Activities this year have centered around student benefits.

In October students participated in an Open House School Night at which teachers met parents. A "College Board" meeting in February centered on information about various schools and featured speakers who gave advice on college matriculation. In April, Classen faculty members were guests at a PTA dinner.

Two other items which endeared PTA to students were, providing the Sooners for a March mixer, and the championing of Classen's first Talent Show which raised funds for the purchase of uniforms for the band.

Indeed, Classen's PTA could qualify for membership in the PTSA (Parent-Teacher-Student Association) fast becoming popular in many sections of the country.

Mrs. Warren D. Long, parent education, Mrs. N. L. George, art, Mrs. Nuell Crain, student aid, Mrs. Al Robertson, president, and Mrs. Lloyd Peek, secretary, discuss a project.

ACTIV

Even with all the class work, I was never too busy to play.

I managed to make it to all the mixers and banquets and dances held around here. Why, those Blue Jackets and Meteors nearly wore me out with all their socials.

I've never seen so many beautiful girls in my life. Well, you can see for yourself. Just look at all the girls who were honored as queens. I think all Classen girls are queens in their own right, whether or not they have a title under their name.

All this work with the Orbit staff has really made me take another look at our school publications. Ever meet a deadline? Well, it's no fun. All that last minute tension. Next time I see a Classen Life, I'm going to read it from front to back and I'll really appreciate it.

Maybe I should try out for cheerleader. "Yea team, fight!" Think I'd be a good one?

I sure do like to parade across that stage. Like the "Mad Woman" or the ghost in "Green Valley." My style instrument is a tuba. Ever see me in the pep band? Operettas are right down my line, too. I sing a little off key but they let me in the chorus anyway.

I spent Christmas vacation in Mexico City, hobnobbing with the peons. Thirty-three of us went down on a chartered bus. It sure did improve my Spanish.

You can see all this keeps me pretty busy. It's a rapid race. But I wouldn't be happy anyplace else. Here at Classen we really enjoy our fun —but we know how to be serious, too.

ITIES—Never too Busy to Play

BOB WEBBER

Student Council President

Elected as a junior to fill Classen's most important office, Bob Webber has done a fine job this year as school leader. Chosen by the student body in an election last April, Bob has proved his leadership ability by going as Classen representative to Europe as an exchange student on the American Field Service plan, by being elected Boy of the Month, and by being Junior Rotarian. Leadership is not new to Bob. He was Student Council president in junior high, president of the sophomore class at Classen and a candidate for junior class president. An outstanding student, Bob is a member of the Honor Society.

Other candidates for Student Council president were Bob Howell, Joe Jones, Paul Schwartz, and Hammet Hough.

BARBARA BURBRIDGE

Orbit Queen

"Typical Teen" was the slogan used by Barbara Burbridge, senior, member of Orbit class first semester, and chosen 1954 yearbook queen.

An assembly December 9 witnessed her coronation. Phil Easlon, her campaign manager, presented her crown. The assembly, "An Evening In Paris," was proclaimed by many to be the best in the history of Orbit. It was under the direction of the Orbit staff.

Campaign activities for Orbit Queen spare nothing. Drab halls take on the appearance of a state fair midway. Posters, booths, lapel buttons, slogans, yells, songs, and speeches go into the making of a gala, as well as hectic, campaign week.

Orbit Queens are nominated by the entire school through advisories. Students who purchase a yearbook may cast five votes. One vote is given if the student has had his picture made for the book.

Candidates were Barbara, Deborah Ireland, Donna Lawrence, Carol Saulsberry, and Debbie Williams.

SHIRLEY ANN DODSON

Proctor Queen

Proctors, Classen's law enforcing organization, elected Shirley Ann Dodson 1953-54 queen. The coronation was held at the annual Proctor mixer, December 17, and the queen was given a corsage and a white coat, bearing her name and title. Bobby Scales escorted Shirley Ann and Rene Crothers, captain of the Proctors, crowned her.

Others nominated for the honor were, Loralyn Bomar, Tinker Neff, Karen Oldfield, and Carol Saulsberry.

Dear Pete,
I think you are a swell fellow, and I have enjoy-
knowing you
this year.
I hope your next two ye
here at Classe
Lots of luck always.
Nancy

NANCY STRICKLER
Sports Queen

Believe it or not, 1953-54 saw a new procedure introduced at Classen!

Instead of having a queen for each sport, as has been the custom, an All-Sports Queen was named.

Nancy Strickler won this honor. Phil Easlon was again the successful campaign manager. The theme of the coronation assembly October 2, was "Alice in Classenland."

Voting for Sports Queen was done on the basis of activity tickets. Students who paid in full for tickets were allowed to cast five hundred votes for the candidate of their choice. Installment payers got fifty votes for each payment made.

Special adult tickets were introduced this year. Each rated 850 votes. If the buyer had a choice of candidates, he cast his votes, otherwise the seller could cast his votes for the candidate he favored.

Queen nominees were Barbara Burbridge, Deborah Ireland, Donna Lawrence, Carol Saulsberry, and Nancy.

MARGARET LOSEY

Blue Jacket Queen

The Blue Jackets annual Thanksgiving formal was the scene of the coronation of Margaret Losey, 1953-54 B. J. Queen.

Other candidates named for the honor were Jane Fellingham, Joyce Kirchner, Karen Oldfield, and Carol Saulsberry.

Escorted by Bob Webber, Margaret was crowned and presented the traditional gifts by Hammet Hough, president, Gifts were a light blue jacket, a white orchid, and a paddle.

HELEN STRAUCH
Meteor Queen

Meteor Pep Club elected Helen Strauch queen for 1953-54.

Results of this election, which is a club actvity, were announced at the annual Meteor Christmas dance.

Helen's co-candidates were Jane Fellingham, Marsha Huffman, Deborah Ireland, and Janyce Shorbe.

President Jerry Karam presented Helen a white jacket inscribed with her name, title, and the club's insignia. An orchid, the blue and gold paddle, and the customary kiss concluded the installation ceremony.

EARNIE WOTRING and CAROL SAULSBERRY

Prince and Princess of Friendship

Climaxing a week of emphasis on friendliness was the coronation of Earnie Wotring and Carol Saulsberry as Prince and Princess of Friendship.

"Hi" cards and "smile" signs improved the atmosphere, and really made Friendship week a success.

Candidates for Prince and Princess are nominated in advisories and finalists are elected on a basis of friendliness alone. Other candidates for Princess were Myralin Gallaspy, Deborah Ireland, Joyce Kirchner, and Donna Lawrence. Candidates for Prince were Rene Crothers, Phil Easlon, Bob Howell, and Joe Jones.

CHEERLEADERS

These pepsters are Classen's cheerleaders. They have fulfilled their job by presiding over all pep assemblies and leading yells at sports events. Our teams have met victory face to face many times with the support of these six boosters.

Bill Parnell, bursting with enthusiasm, comes forth with his usual pep.

Classettes cheerleaders, Bobbie Kay Reynolds and Betty Bowles, and mascot, Kathy Barnett are always ready to lead a yell.

The Boys and Girls "O" clubs combined to entertain the student body with a Comet Capers. Bill Blackwell and Joe Jones carry the "hero", Keith Ballard. Watching eagerly is Ronnie Jacobson.

n a jazz session from the Comes banquet, Nicole Puzin leads her abulous band. Drummer, Kaye Bradley really goes wild as a lassen football player, Peggy Eastman enters the scene.

Comet Capers

Comet Capers is the name given Classen's pep rallies held before each conference football and basketball game. The downfall of the opponent is always forecast in the skits given by Capers participants.

Banquets

Two of the big events at Classen each year are the annual Football and Basketball Banquets given by the Comes and the Classettes. Members of the team are guests at the events where the entertainment is often of primary interest. (Because of the late date of the Classette banquet, pictures were unavailable.)

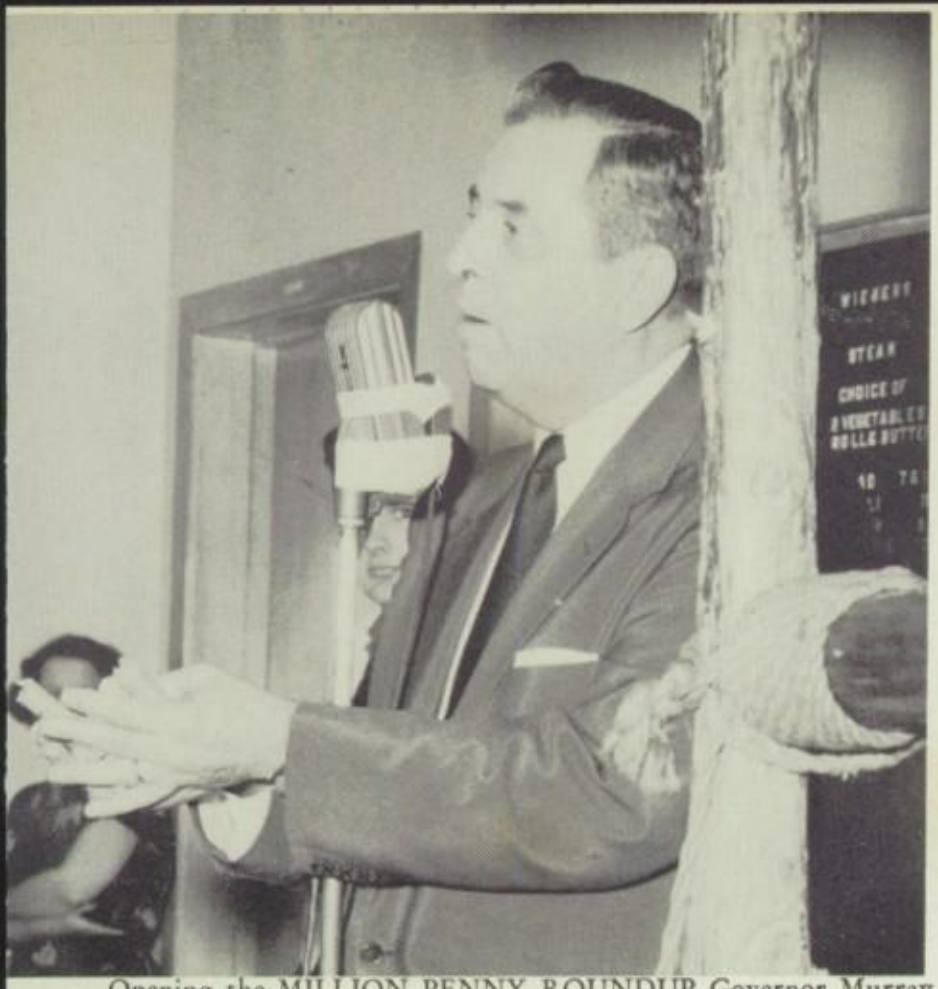
Guests at the Comes banquet hear fortune teller Phyllis Wright describe a Far East scene as Henrie Bea Pack dances.

First Little Theatre production of the year, "Green Valley" was an entirely different approach to dramatic purpose. In this scene the villain Everheel, Jim Hippen, pleads to the ghostly ancestors, who inhabit the valley, to spare his life.

"Mad Woman of Chaillot" had Pat Tyson in the title role. And featured a cast of thirty-five players. The evil people of Paris surround the 'Madwoman', little aware of her design to destroy them.

Art Nouveau offers fun to all in the annual Beaux Art Ball. King and Queen of the frolic, Bill Elder and Karen Oldfield, greet their subjects with a cordial smile.

"Candelabra" Chodos, (Gabe, we call him), plays several of his own compositions for students in the Friendship assembly.



Opening the MILLION PENNY ROUNDUP Governor Murray spoke to the students in the cafeteria and concluded his talk by depositing 500 pennies.

Million Penny Round-up

Jackie Wright was more than a sophomore, or an honorary colonel on Governor Murray's staff, or mascot of a marine corps Jackie was a pretty, talented fifteen year old Miss who possessed charm.

Early in the first semester she died,—victim of cancer. Classmates at Classen had held prayer services in the auditorium, and although Jackie had never enrolled in Classen, detained by her illness, the auditorium was well filled.

Miss Mary Pruitt consented to be Jackie's bedside tutor, because Jackie didn't want to get behind in her studies.

Memory of her happiness, courage and faith remains. And to perpetuate her spirit of love and sacrifice the MILLION PENNY MEMORIAL ROUNDUP was launched by her classmates.

Workers do not expect to collect the million pennies in one school year. It is set up as a continuing project. Response has been encouraging.

Half of the $10,000 will go to Oklahoma University Medical Foundation to be used for cancer research: The other half will be used to landscape a patio at our new Classen building and will represent a living memorial to qualities of friendship and courage to which all aspire.

Linda Kennedy and John Nance sing the MILLION PENNY ROUNDUP theme song at one of the Monday noontime programs given to keep the students aware of the progress of the project.

Classenites look on as Sue Ingram contributes her loose change to the Roundup.

Lined up awaiting the opportunity to contribute to the success of the Memorial fund.

ORGANIZ
Reached Ou

No one has enough time to belong to every organization active at Classen, and you won't find little Herman's name on too many rolls, but I've found time to attend some meetings of each.

Student Council meetings really fascinate me. It's amazing how many committees are needed to do all the things they do for the student body.

But belonging is quite the thing. I've been on trips to national conventions at El Paso, Minneapolis, Corpus Christi, to OU and A&M numerous times, not to mention bus trips to games and field trips, and Youth Legislation adventures.

I liked the new seating arrangement for pep rallies that was inaugurated this year. Pep clubs sit on opposite sides of the gym—that way you can decide who out yells who.

I finally learned to get to assemblies on time, after a member of the Courtesy Club admitted me to study hall because I was late.

Organizations are the means by which I have developed a semblance of social grace, the ability to conduct a successful meeting, carry on a conversation, and feel somewhat at ease when I'm the only one on the dance floor.

At first I was a little shy. But they reached out and pulled me in.

"We're Comes now and we coudn't be prouder"—expresses the feeling of every member of Comes pep club. Each fall new members called Comes are taken into the club. For several weeks they are junior members having a big sister to guide them. This year there was a picnic honoring these girls. Ever behind their school, Comes entertained the football players with a banquet and dance. They honored spring sports participants at their annual spring picnic. Socials, charity projects, fun and fellowship are among their activities. Yes—"we couldn't be prouder!"

Meteors

Classen has a right to be proud of boys belonging to Meteor pep club. Founded seven years ago, Meteors has become one of the most active organizations at Classen. Meteors are always ready to give their support to the school by attending games and mixers, and assisting in charity projects and other school sponsored projects. Among many social activities on their agenda was the traditional Christmas dance where Helen Strauch was crowned Meteor queen. New this year was a banquet given in honor of new members. This will be an annual affair.

Blue Jackets

More activities than ever might well have been the goal of this year's Blue Jacket pep club. They gave loyal support at games; and one enterprise, among many, was having the "ducks" clean the school grounds. Margaret Losey was honored as Blue Jacket queen at their annual Thanksgiving dance. The club did its part in the "Million Penny Round-Up," held socials, formal and informal, and sponsored the Blue Jacket-Faculty basketball contest to swell the band uniform fund.

"O" Club

Considered among Classen's outstanding vocalists are the members of the Madrigal Chorus. They devote half their lunch hour each day to rehearsal and appear in many assemblies and before civic organizations.

Classen's ninety piece concert band is directed by Bandmaster Arthur Johnson. This aggregation of musicians adds much to the enjoyment of festivals and other joyous occasions at Classen.

No game would be complete without Classen's Pep Band. Their contribution toward victory is important to players and cheering sections.

Band

Schools are always tremendously proud of their bands. Nowhere could that be more true than at Classen.

The band has been much in the minds of students this year because of its need of new uniforms. During the first semester a magazine drive was on. When this effort fell short of the required amount, individual organizations staged games, dances and other events to raise money to add to the uniform fund.

At long last when Classen realized their ambition to present a student talent show, and had no immediate, or previously nominated purpose for the money that would accrue, it was agreed that with the help of the PTA we'd all go out and make a supreme effort to attain the amount needed to buy new uniforms. The talent show is scheduled for April 30. We know we'll see our band in new uniforms next September.

In honor of the Irish of Notre Dame, who invaded the O.U. campus in September, Classen's marching band forms a shamrock.

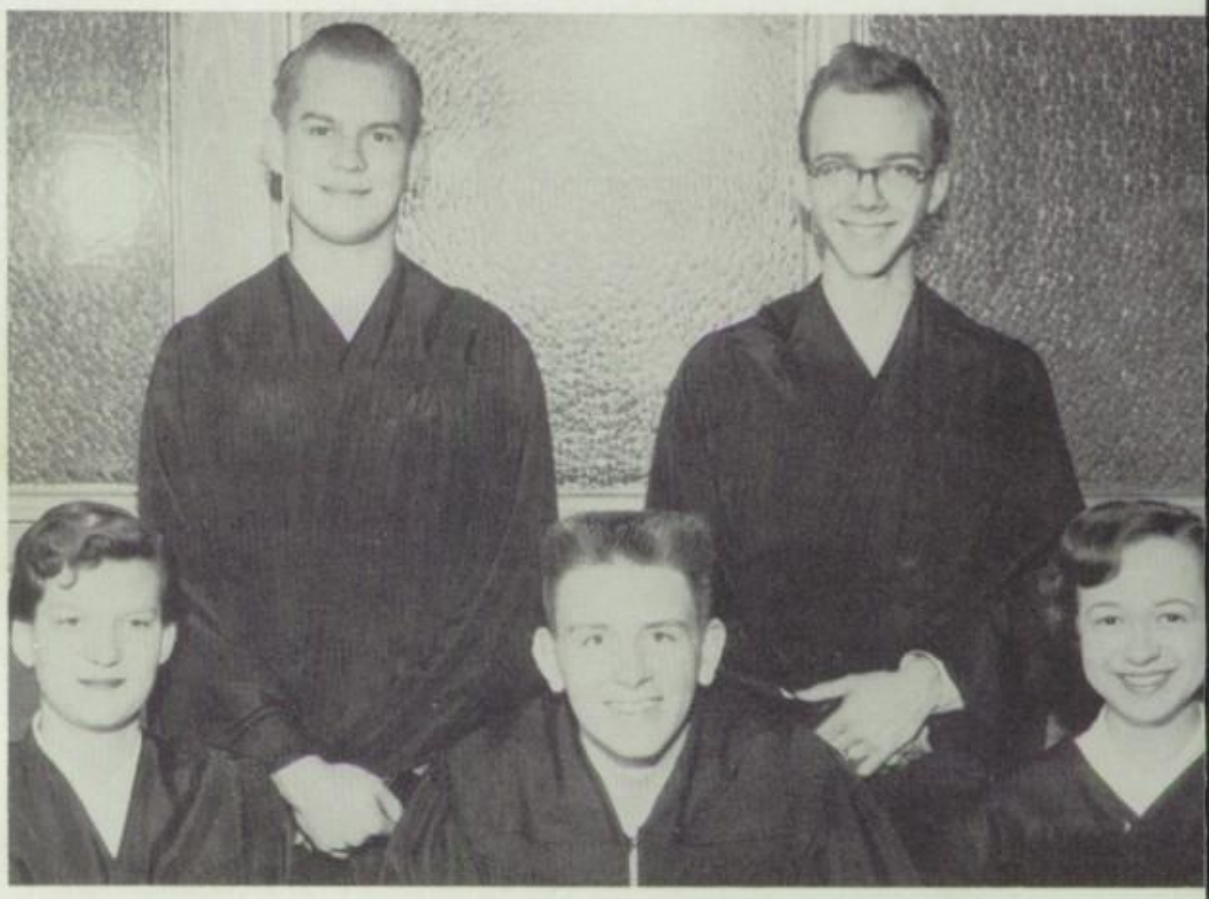
Proctors

The enforcement of rules and regulations of our school are handled by the Proctor organization. A subpoena to appear in Proctor Court is issued by the Proctors to students who disobey the set laws of Classen.

Supreme Court

The highest court of Classen High School is the Supreme Court. Consisting of four Associate Justices and one Chief Justice, the Supreme Court handles cases that are of a higher degree than those cases handled in Proctor Court.

Members of the Supreme Court are Mary Huckins, Paul McDaniel, Chief Justice; Elaine George. STANDING: Charles Blackwood, Albert Mullikin.



Proctor Court

Proctor Court is in session every Wednesday. Dick Sanford, Clark McPhail, prosecuting attorney, Tinker Neff, clerk, Elizabeth Dill, assistant clerk. STANDING: Richard Medley, bailiff. Hammet Hough, Dale Milligan, Jerry Karam, judges, Phil Lee, Bobby Scales, bailiff.

Classette officers' meeting looks more like play than work.

There's a hint of bewilderment on the faces of Sara Barnhart, Ann Robertson, and Lillian Burrow as they search for their coats before the game is over and the Stampede begins.

IRON

by

The more I see of sports, the more I wonder why they're called play.

No crew ever worked harder than we to get to be top man on the athletic totem pole, we gave 'em a run for the money, too, and our 1953-54 record is bright with wins and winners.

At the opening of the second semester a request from Classen students for a spot in the sports program got a response. An intramural sports program which included activities ranging from tiddle-winks to golf was set into motion and some 800 students participated.

We boost several state, national and regional winners, too.

If anyone ever asks about that Classen spirit, just say, "yes sir, we got the coach, we got the team, we got the pep, and we got the steam." What more do you need?

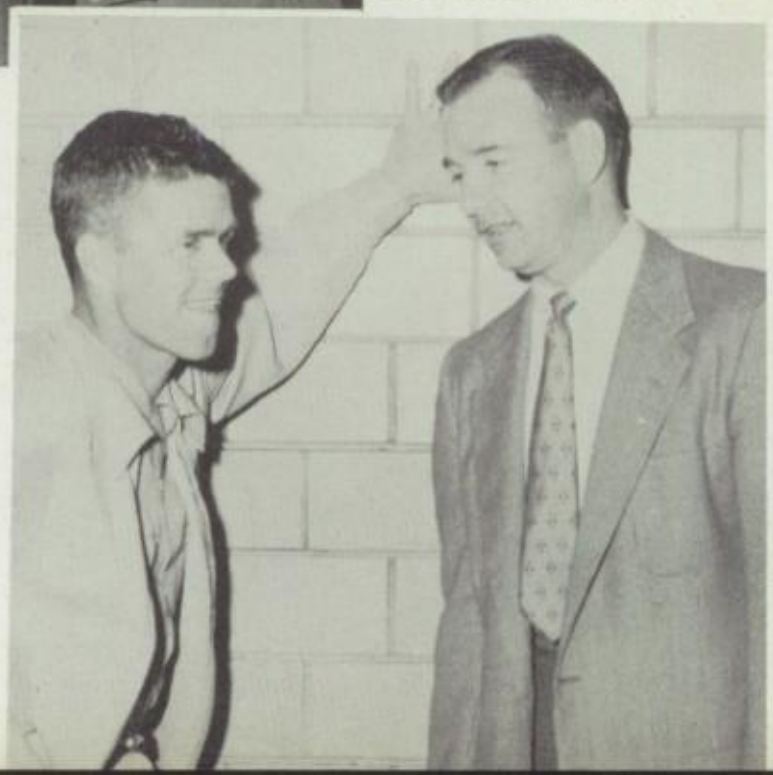
Mr. Conger, football coach, and assistant coach Davis, watch the team in action.

Mr. Robyler, basketball coach, discusses tactics with assistant coach Irwin.



Football

On September 11, a surprisingly strong Aramore outfit clipped the favored Blue and Gold, 34-20. Inexperience and opening-game jitters were big factors in the defeat.

Our Comets met a potent eleven at Shreveport. Coach Conger's forces absorbed their second loss, 13-24. Starting center, Phil Rudolph, received injuries which sidelined him for the season.

Fumbleitis and other occupational diseases plagued the eager-beaver boulevarders, so the hungry Lawton Wolverines gobbled them up. Defeat number four, came at the hands of Oklahoma's mythical number one team, Capitol Hill, 46-0.

Victory-starved Comets got a taste of victory, October 9, by steam rolling crosstown rival, Northeast, 38-14. This impetus was the forerunner of a tremendous change in Classen football fortunes.

An inspired Conger outfit pranced on the field to challenge arch rival Central's power house. It was a game try, but the Cards prevailed 19-7.

Much could be said about the October 23 game with Enid, but words cannot adequately describe the metamorphosis which took place in Classen ranks. "The worm turned," and this particular worm became a boa constrictor. The Blue and Gold boa squashed the favored Plainsmen.

Basketball

Another achievement was added to Classen's sports honor roll when the Comets tied Capitol Hill and Shawnee for the 1954 Mid-State championship.

Roundball season officially began with a four game festival December 3 and 4, when Classen defeated Midwest City, 53-41, and Muskogee, 55-42. A trip across town to John Marshall gave Classen its third straight victory, 57-39. Ponca City fell prey, 38-32, to Comet power. This was the team which snatched victory from Classen in state play-offs last year.

Adding victory five, December 18, Comets rushed ahead of Lawton 27 points on Lawton's home court. A non-conference tournament set the Comets down to their first defeat, 61-52, to Enid. In the first round of that tournament the Comets defeated Ponca City, 38-34.

When John Marshall returned its visit for the first game of 1954, undaunted Classen took the Bears by a margin of 35 points. Arch rivals, Central Cardinals, gave way after a hard fought first half, on their home court, 54-45.

Shawnee's shrewd wolf pack brought defeat, 48-47 to the Comets with only seconds to go. But Catholic High was caught napping. The boulevard boys ran wild with field goals and free throws to tally a 47-27 victory, January 15.

Capitol Hill Redskins dealt one of the hardest blows of the season when they held the Comets to 35 points and won by four field goals. Classen added four more victories before moving to the season's fifth loss. Underdogs were Northeast, 49-43; Norman, 52-47; Enid, 54-43, and Catholic High, 35-29. Capitol Hill again waylaid our fast team, 58-47.

Central was determined to be victorious after an earlier defeat, but were stymied, 52-46. Traveling to the land of the Plainsmen, victory was captured, 60-55, and brought back to Cometland. A game to be remembered by both teams, it was the only battle the Plainsmen lost this season on their home court.

"Wha hoppened?" was all Norman rooters,could utter when the Cityans doubled the score, 74-37. Northeast fell 80-66 to the Comets' determined onslaught.

Shawnee visited Classen in the exciting last conference game of the 1953-54 season and lost to an eager Comet team, 54-44. This victory gave Classen a share of the Mid-State title.

Classen met Midwest City in the regional play-offs March 5 at Oklahoma City University. Although beaten in the final contest, 47-37, Classenites can review the season with pride in the Comets for a job well done.

Larry Nichols pushes aside a Northeast tackle. "Down, you Viking," Larry admonishes, as he gains yardage for the Comets.

Norman, an unsuspecting victim, was plowed under by the revamped Cityans, 49 to 13. The final gun was good indication of the ease with which the "new" team dispatched their stunned foes.

November 7, the Classen opportunists really showed what they could do. Pulling their third straight upset, they slipped past Shawnee's highly touted Wolves, 27 to 20. Members of Classen's four pep clubs traveled to Shawnee to add their vocal support to the cause.

Classen continued to give the crystal gazers nightmares, but lost to Tulsa Rogers, 14-27, November 19.

Groseclose, Crothers, Smith, Nichols, and many other names are prominent in our recollections of the 1953 football season. It can be said, without fear of contradiction, that each player gave his best and that is all that can be asked.

Of special significance was the spirit shown by Classen students throughout the season. Cheer leaders and pep clubs deserve special thanks for splendid cooperation and fine sportsmanship.

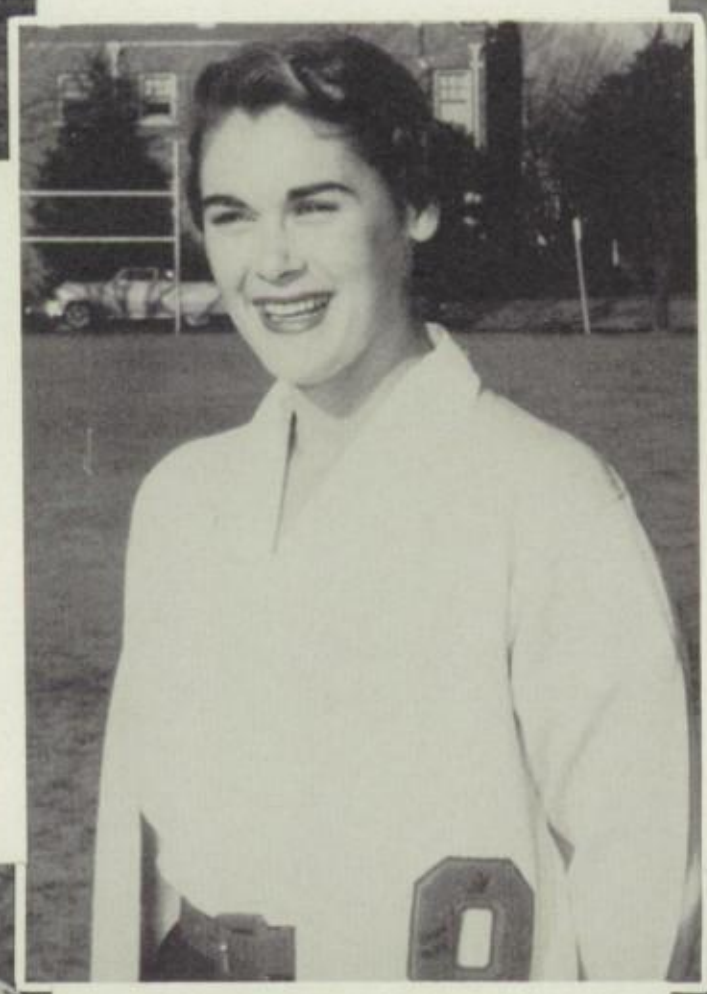
Girls' All-Stars

JUDY EARLY
City, Mid-State, and State tennis doubles champion

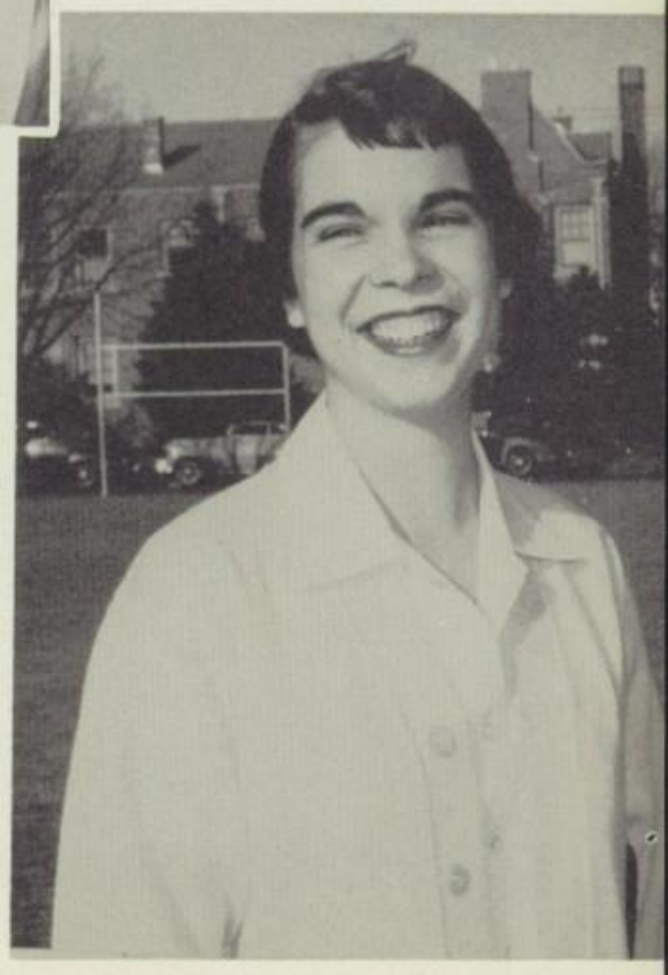


MARGARET WHALE
Junior National 200-yard free style swimming champion, most outstanding woman swimmer in Oklahoma — 1953

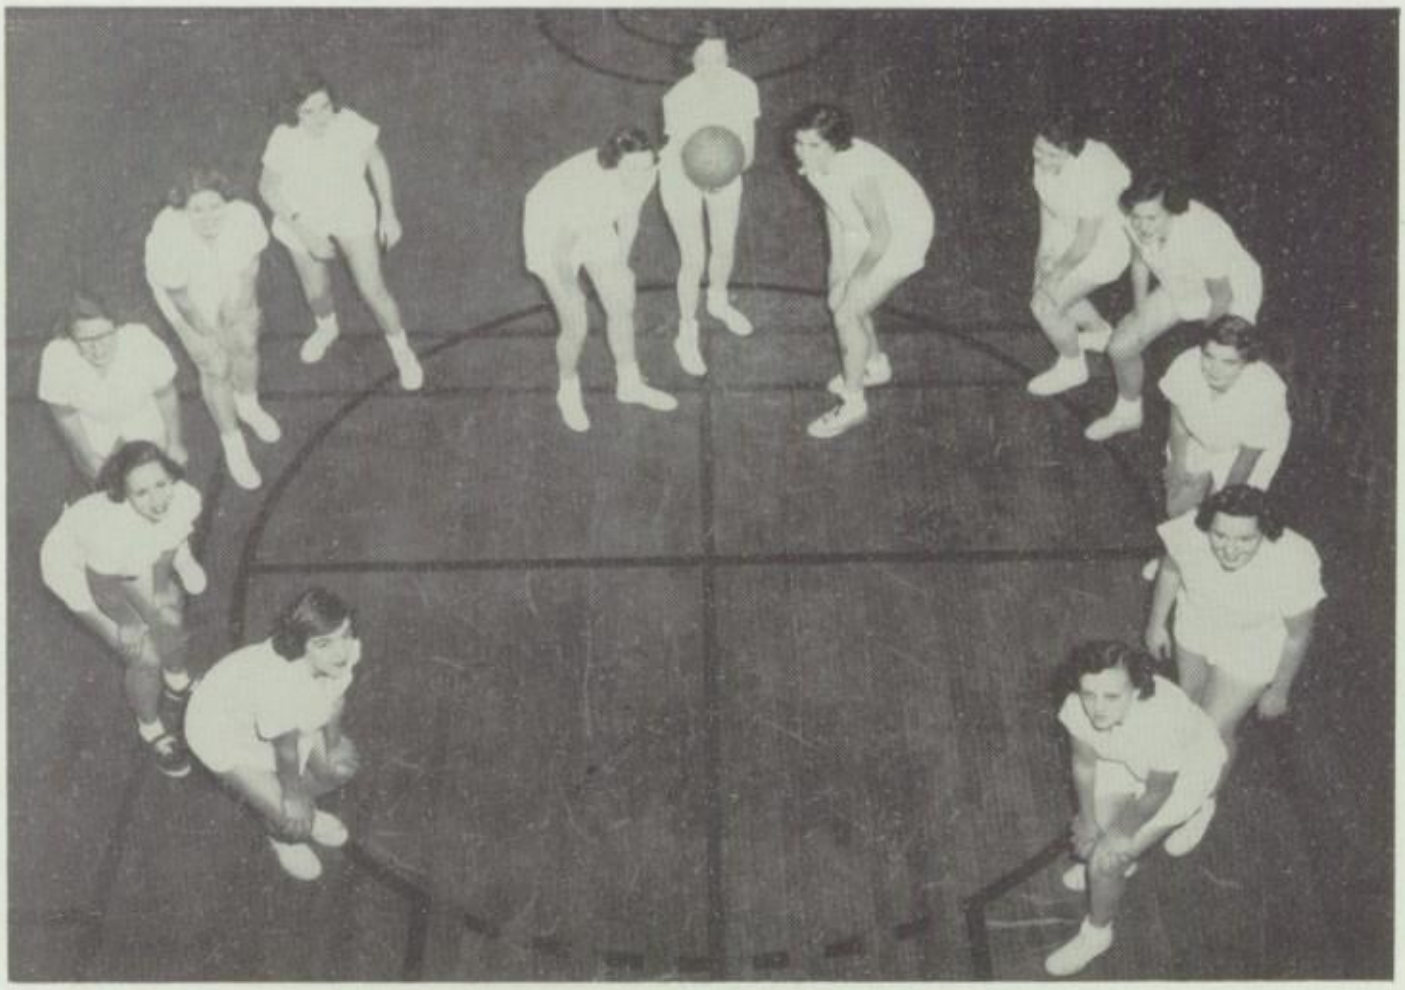
NANCI AMES EARLY
City table tennis champion

EILEEN BODENHEIMER
State badminton doubles champion

SUSAN HOOVER
State badminton doubles champion



Girls' Basketball



Eager to play are Jo Willard, Gail Morris, Beverly Drilling, Leah Kay Higbie, Sandra Hayes, Carol Thompson, Sue Casey, Harriet Howard, Nadine Ross, Joy McBride, Connie Huff, Nancy Kirby, and Sally Riley.

Linda Melton reports on a golf victory to Jean Conliff.

Girls' basketball season opened January 5 when Northeast's championship team romped over Classen, 51-22. Southeast then defeated, 34-28, the hard fighting girls.

When Classen traveled to Central, they were beaten by a slim margin, 19-16. John Marshall next moved into Classen territory. The Bears were routed by 15 points. In the season's last game, Classen lost to Capitol Hill, 34-25.

Softball

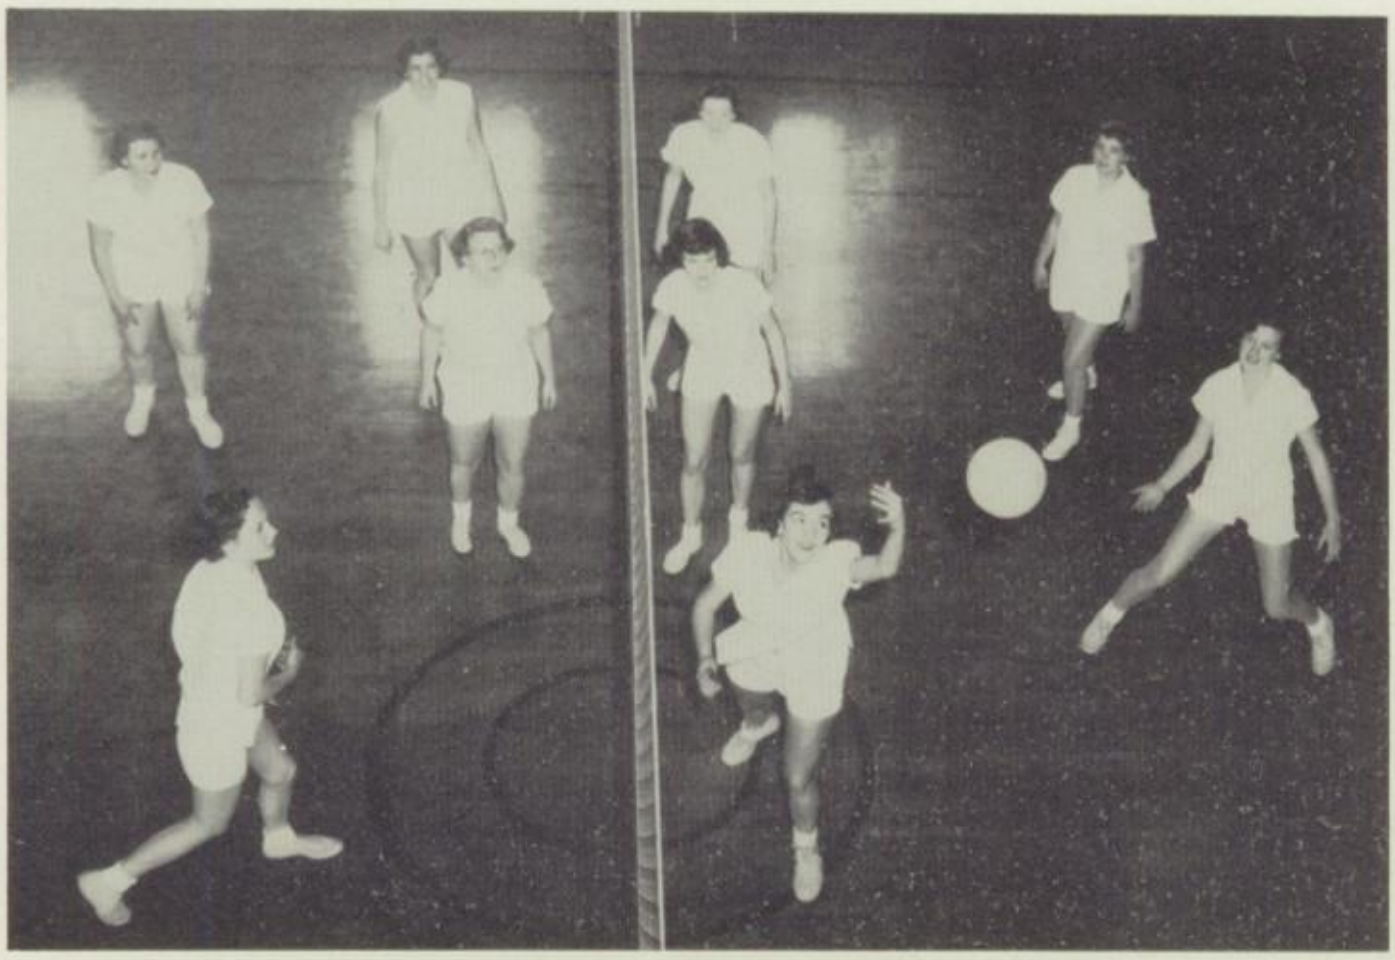
Volleyball



Girls' volleyball team works out daily. Members on first row are Sue Casey and Jo Willard.
Second row: Beverly Drilling, Marcia McElderry, Joy Ross.
Third row: Nadine Ross, Harriet Howard, Carol Thompson, Connie Huff.

Tennis

These girls lettered in tennis this year. Kneeling are Barbara Buckley, Denise Daniel, and Eileen Bodenheimer. Standing are Judy Early, Nanci Ames Early, Pat Arnold, and Peggy Eastman.

Senior, Judy Early, returns a low net skimming serve. This is how Judy wins those medals.

Table Tennis

Outstanding in table tennis, Pat Arnold, Susan Hoover, Peggy Eastman, Judy Early, Eileen Bodenheimer, Linda Shadid, True Smith, and Nanci Ames Early.

Badminton

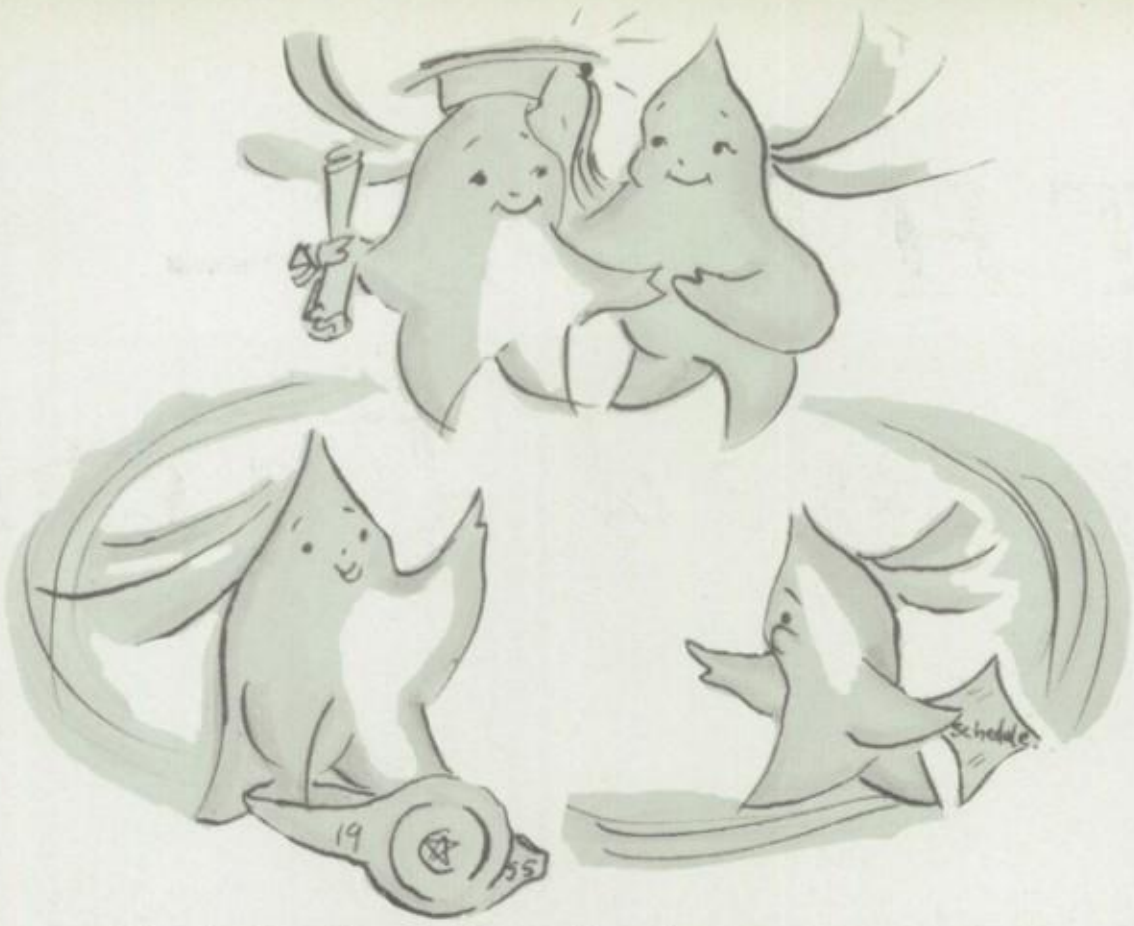
Swimming

Classen mermaids are Jan Hixon, Connie Enders, Jo Ann Kerr, Judy Anderson, June Sorick, Judy Couch, Betty Thomas, Carol Tyler, Margaret Whale, Ann Lynn, Sarah McCuiston, and Ellen Booth.



ONE, My,

Oh, the loneliness of my first few days as a sophomore. No one seemed to know I was here. I was just another hump in the line, winding down the middle of room 112 and spilling into the hall. Then suddenly something happened. I was teeth and toe nails in politics—candidate for class president. The whole world changed its aura. I even got into Mr. Brucher's office to get my enrollment approved.

Each day when the students gathered to give the 8:30 bell a rousing welcome I became more fascinated with the confusion of life in Classen.

Students swaggering through the hall crowds without a single run-in never ceased to amaze me.

I'd had such fun as a sophomore I wondered whether I'd enjoy being a junior. But during vacation I saw a dream walking. When fall and school days were again the agenda, I knew I'd like being a junior—if I could just get a glimpse of her. I didn't mind the race from third to first and back to third in the five minutes between classes. Besides, it was good training for track. Of course, I had trouble with tardies; I hated to be robbed of a moment of her society by a bell. Important matters like the Junior Prom and Junior rings crowded out things like book reports, homework and class assignments.

I knew every hall and door, and especially the concealed corners by now.

Sophomores disgusted me. They seemed so immature and confused. But time passed on.

A senior! I can carry a beat-up looseleaf, a disgraceful English lit, look at trophies in the cases and gloat. Maybe outwit a Proctor.

Now I can daydream and teachers will think I'm in a deep brown study or contemplating another trip to the office to check my credits. My time is now consumed with committee meetings, auditing, auditions for A Cappella, after school rehearsals, promotion stunts for one and then another queen, making posters, attending games, mixers, debate and athletic jaunts, assembly programs, talent shows, welfare drives, and efforts to get a scholarship.

Now that I've achieved the feeling of being part and parcel of Classen they are preparing to give me a ticket and turn me out.

But I always fool them by re-enrolling every year and re-living the experiences that are Classen.

TWO, THREE!—
It Happened Fast!

Perfecting details for commencement exercises with Miss Gordon are class officers, Deborah Ireland, vice-president; Joyce Kirchner, secretary; Rene Crothers, president; Charles Jobe, treasurer, and E. W. Keller, sergeant-at-arms.

Seniors 1954

I face each senior year with a firm resolve that I'll get some studying done. Then, WHAM! Things begin to buzz. Games, pep rallies, plays, debates, dances, club meetings, parties, Comet capers—but some of our 572 seniors must have had a couple of days that had more than 24 hours, because the '54 class came through with the highest scholastic standing in the history of Classen.

Confidentially, I kinda think our pilots, Baughman, Campbell, Cherry, Cornelius, Gordon, Irwin, Johnson and Smelser, hated to see us go.

That was a great night when we graduated! (One of the best graduations I've had.) Our commencement speaker was "Bud" Wilkinson, of OU. And we discovered that "Bud" has talents other than those he uses on the gridiron. As we marched forward to claim our diplomas there was the thrill of knowing we had arrived successfully at the beginning of new endeavors.

With the aid of Miss Prissy Thomas, WKY commentator, Distributive Education presented an assembly in which popular styles were modeled by members of the Courtesy Club.

Shapely, eh? George Susens, Ted Griffy, Bill Blackwell, Bill Pinkerton and Joe Jones, senior basketball lettermen, do their version of the CAN-CAN for the "O" Club Comet Capers.

Hard at work on ideas for the Comes football banquet, Janet Palmer confers with members of her committee, Eileen Smith, Carolyn Davis, and Mary Ann Thompson.

Clark McPhail, prosecuting attorney, argues a case in Proctor Court. Court officials and members of the jury listen intently. Proctor Court convenes each Wednesday to consider violations of school regulations.

Don Harlow selects a book while John Rose, Charles Jobe, and Judy Rapp study in the quietness of Classen's library.

A skeleton? No, it's Henrie Bea Pack "Dancing in the Dark." We find Henrie Bea portraying a skeleton in the Classen-Central pre-game pep rally. The tombstones in the background are inscribed with the years in which Classen was victorious.

Classen students are familiar with the Classettes annual social service project. Loralyn Bomar and Carolyn Williams are sorting gifts of food contributed by members. For the Thanksgiving projects six baskets were filled this year.

Joyce Harrison, Lillian Morgan, Barbara Burbridge, and Pat Conner, members of the Orbit staff, distribute to advisories sheets asking for individual senior activities for the 1954 Orbit

Cheerleaders, Nancy Strickler, Donna Lawrence, and Carol Saulsberry, ever staunch and steadfast to the team, promote a yell at the Duncan football game despite the interference of OLD MOTHER NATURE.

Lucky, Bobby Scales, bailiff of Proctor Court, is seen during a Proctor Court session with court clerk, Tinker Neff, and her assistant Elizabeth Dill.

Junior Class

One step nearer graduation. This year's junior class of 592 members kept busy. They had four European exchange student candidates, club activities, received their traditional class rings, elected next year's student council officers, and several of their members will be representatives to Boys' and Girls' States this summer.

Juniors gave the Junior-Senior Prom and assisted with the Senior Sermon and Commencement. Sponsoring these juniors on through to their senior year, were Miss Willoughby, Mr. Bynum, Mrs. Copeland, Miss Blanche Holland, Miss Mildred Holland, Miss Shepard and Miss Pruitt.

The thrill of learning you are Orbit Queen is expressed in Barbara Burbridge's smile as she talks to her co-candidates (left to right): Donna Lawrence, Carol Saulsberry, Barbara, Debbie Williams, and Deborah Ireland. Barbara will now be the Queen of Classen High.

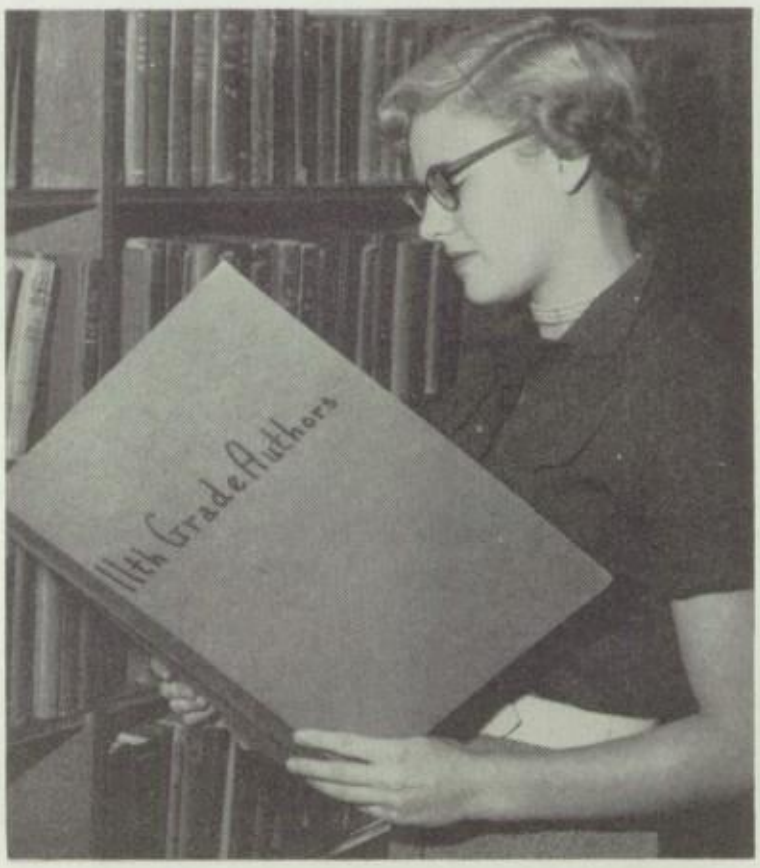
These Meteors promote the wedding of Mr. Victory (Larry Thrower) to Miss Classen (Charles Ellet). The nonchalant train bearers are Larry Ferree and Reggie Hall. This is a good example of the hilarious frolic common to Classen's pep assemblies called Comet Capers. These precede each important athletic event.

Betty Jane Reed, office aide, collects cards of absentees, cutters, and 10 o'clock scholars. When your card goes in—you await the penalty assessed.

Dum—de—dum—dum, "This chicken has got to go," says Janice May (Jack Webb) to Little Blue Riding Hood (Mary Collins) during Sports Queen assembly.

Sorry, boys! Only one record for a nickel. Jared Hazelton and Bob Casey will have to agree which record they want played on the cafeteria juke box. Eddie Mann contributes to the decision.

Ah! Genius at work! Don McManus and Jerry Carlile construct a well planned ——. (You name it and it's yours.) Seems they have quite a few admirers ready to bid on the object in hand.



Bernice Mathis checks the list of authors in the library to make sure her book report will be accepted in the American Literature class. Juniors read books by American authors. Seniors read English and European authors.

Love of football sent Larry Bond and Jerry Karam through mud, rain, and hail, to cheer the team. Classen fans are true blue and gold.

Loads of luck to a real swell guy. Harriet Howard

As a sophomore I readily fell into the swing of high school life. The year's 736 sophomores had a program of service activities which evidenced their eagerness to become part of Classen. Sponsors Hulet, Conger, Gibson, Kincaid and Von Tungeln found the class possessed true leaders.

Much of their activity centered about classmate Jackie Wright. Devotion to his classmate was demonstrated first in a prayer service held in the auditorium during lunch hour. When they launched the Jackie Wright Million Penny Memorial Round-Up, it became a center of interest for the whole school and spread into the community.

Class members also have identified themselves with clubs, sports, speech productions and in the journalism department.

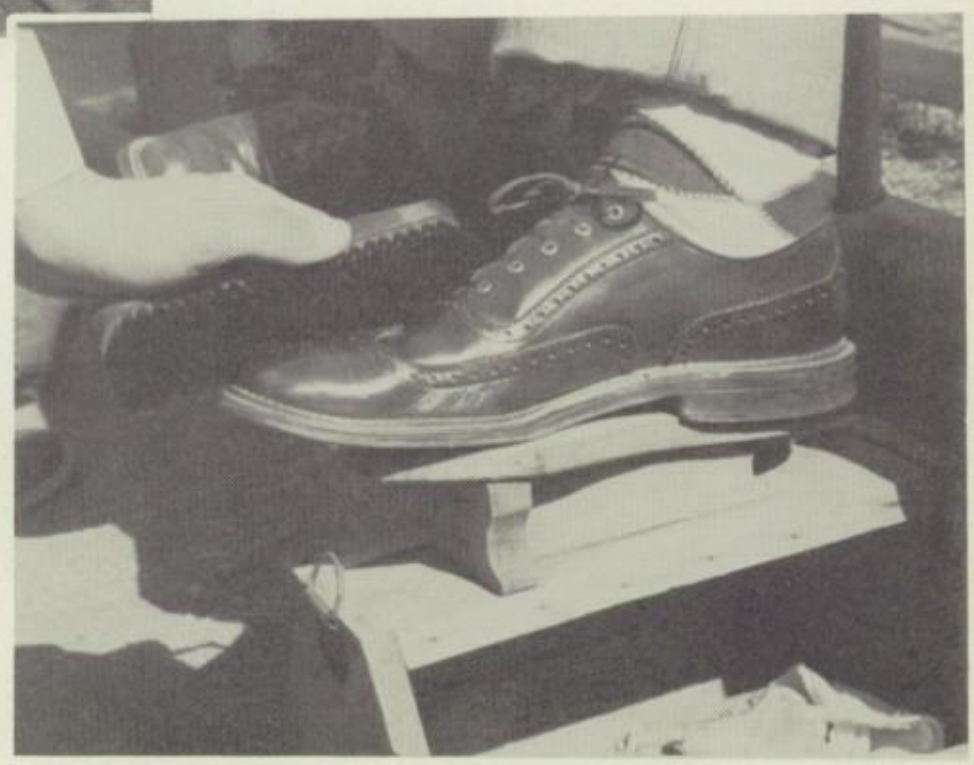
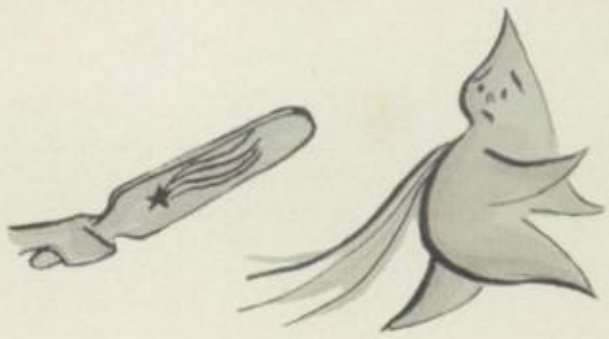
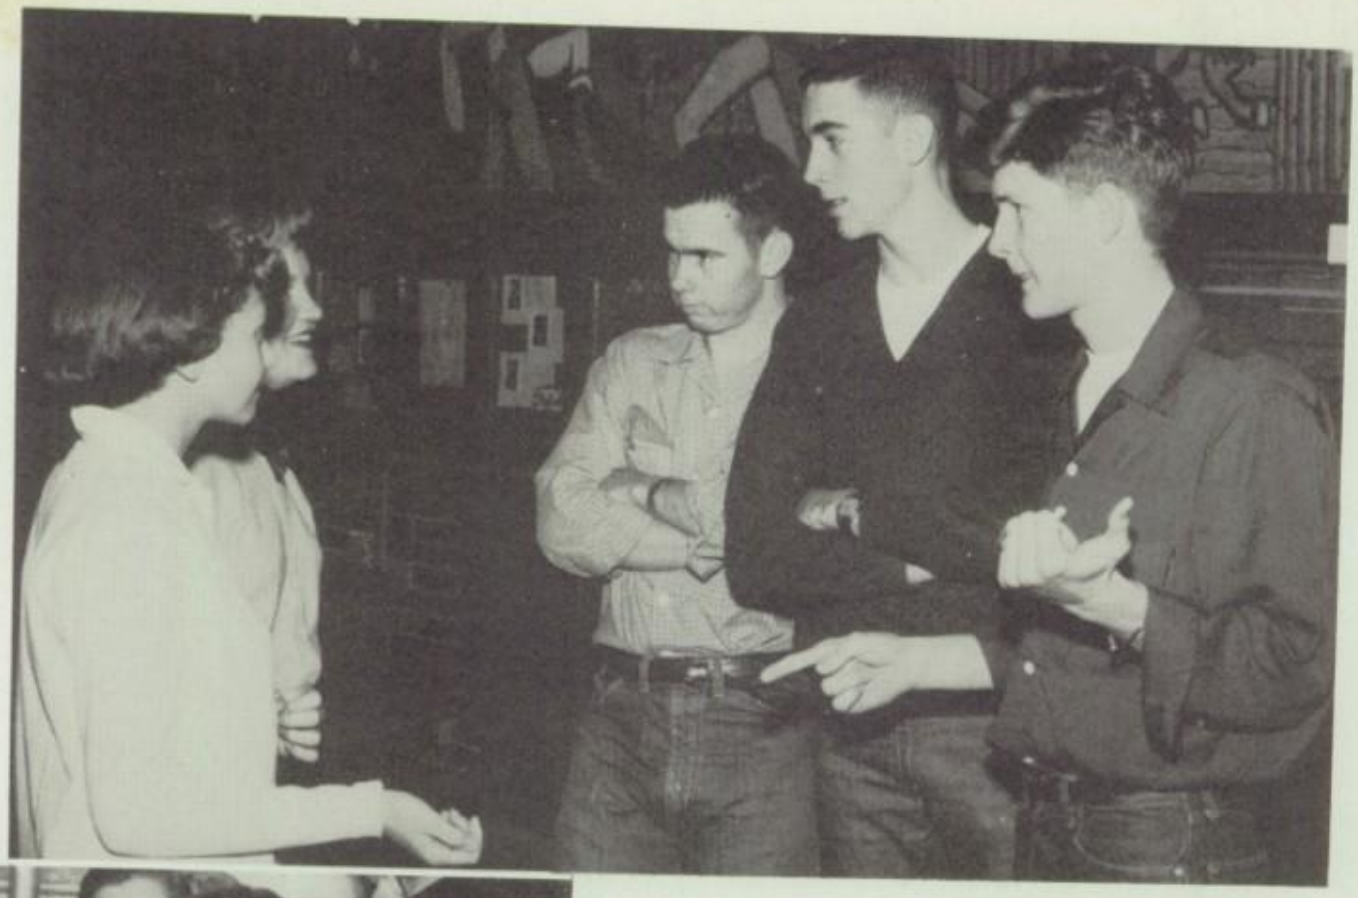
Bowed heads and bent backs are all members see when inductees polish shoes. Danny Almond is just another shine box in action to the unidentified owner of the shoe he polishes.



Brush, dab, shine, and brush again! That is the routine learned by a Meteor "duck" as he slaves away on a brown leather wing-tip. His only thought, "Will I ever get to be a member?"

Comrades to the end brave the overpowering strength of upper-classmen. Bob Burris, Eddie Mann, Larry Whitehead, and Willis Miller know there's strength in numbers.





Pleading will get one nowhere, sophomores Lucy Zschieche and Mary Lou Werme find out as they try to outwit proctors David Monroe, Bill Pinkerton, and Phil Lee.

Experiencing the thrill of voting are sophomores Florence Bricker, Claren Mayes, and Joe Srago. Student Council members Janet Palmer, Elaine Schuster, and Deborah Ireland preside at the polls.

You don't have to be a track star, but it might help, if you wish to get to class on time. Here we see a group of Classenites going through the daily routines of "facing the mob," but with each looking out for himself, we have had no casualties yet.
